product Machinery

With over 1000 high quality products and an international sales team, EROWA needed a solution that made keeping their field sales reps up to date with the latest collateral easy. EROWA sought a digital asset management solution which enabled their sales team to access collateral offline, wherever they were. It had to be:

- A digital replacement for their cluttered intranet, fully accessible offline
- A tool which could keep sales collateral used internationally up to date from one place
- Something which could make a vast product catalogue readily available and presentable
- Able to support many different platforms and devices
- Easy for sales team to use the impact

With iPresent, the sales team are prepared for any surprises that may come their way in the field. Not only do they have our entire product catalogue, they have videos, presentations and photographs, all of which can be emailed to customers instantly.
